We would like to share few interesting questions discussed during the interview:

1. After transferring your business responsibilities to your second generation, what the reason for you to agree for the public issue of your shares even at the time of crash in the stock market?

Ans: It was an attempt to increase competing spirit among our employees and also to increase responsibilities of share holders. This was also a chance given to my children to excel in the field of business.

2. From the beginning of your business career itself it seems that you highly devoted to the letter V. What is the reason behind it? To my limited knowledge I think Wonderla's W = V+V.

Ans: See it was really unexpected. When I was working in a stabilizer company the striking thought in me was 'Why cant I believe that a better stabilizer would resolve the present issues regarding voltage'. There was a need for innovation to solve various issues related to voltage. It was an attempt to improve the existing product in the market which marked the beginning of V Guard which I meant as Voltage Guard.

3. How do you evaluate the diversification of Veegaland to V-star?

Ans The idea of V-star was completely developed by my wife Sheela Chittilapally. I donot even have a single share in it.

4. What is the success mantra behind your business?

Ans I prefer to pay more taxes and not earn profit by hook or crook. I intensionally choose to sell quality products to reap success.

5. How did you face your challenges?

Ans I donot consider them as hurdles. They were opportunities for me to learn.

6. What are the qualities that an entrepreneur should possess?

Ans Courage, positive attitude and straight forwardness

7. What advice would you give to a student who wants to start a business after Undergraduate degree?

Ans 3 years of work experience was the best for me when compared to the 7 years of college education. So I would suggest a student to work and then go for taking up a business.

The entrepreneur also mentioned that an entrepreneur is born when he or she goes in search of opportunities and not when opportunities are given in a plate.
